Hunt Construction Group builds better conference ending

Team building activity includes donation to St. Vincent de Paul

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — While many companies end conferences with golf outings and parties, Hunt Construction Group, Inc. is taking a different approach. On Saturday afternoon, more than 700 employees from around the country will spend the afternoon participating in a team building exercise that gives back to the community.

During the activity, groups will build more than 60 wagons and fill them with food, hygiene supplies and other basic needs. When completed, Hunt Construction is donating the filled wagons to St. Vincent de Paul for the needy families who visit the main campus dining room.

"Hunt Construction has been a pillar at St. Vincent de Paul for several years," said Executive Director Steve Zabilski. "We are grateful for their support, and know this donation will bring a lot of joy to the families who depend on St. Vincent de Paul for a helping hand."

The team building exercise, which is called Club Hunt, will take place at the Scottsdale Resort and Conference Center, 7700 E. McCormick Parkway, Scottsdale.
